

$Ten million suit faces owners of Amarillo News, Whittenburgs

The owners of Amarillo's only newspaper and several members of that city's prominent Whittenburg family are defendants in a $10 million lawsuit which alleges fraud in the 1972 sale of the newspaper.

The suit was filed recently in U.S. district court in Amarillo and counsel for the plaintiffs is the lawfirm of Fulbright, Crooker & Jaworski of Houston. Leon Jaworski is currently special prosecutor for the administration in the Watergate affair in Washington.

Plaintiffs in the action, which contends the sale of the Amarillo Globe-News Publishing Co. in September 1972 was conducted in a fraudulent manner, are Helen Catherine Hamilton, David Hamilton, Charlene Cline Marsh, William Whittenburg Cline and Richard Charles Cline Jr.

Defendants are Leon Swift, Eva Metcalf, Wanda Jeanne Whittenburg, individually and as trustees of the Fagg Trust, Donald G. Coltrin, Patricia Roberts Walker and Peter C.

Bowes, individually and as trustees of the Spool Trusts; Roy R. Whittenburg; The Spool Company; Spool Cattle Co.; Plains Radio Broadcasting Co.; Southwestern Newspapers Corp.; and Morris Communications Corp.

Morris Communications Corp. bought the Globe-News in September 1972 and Southwestern Newspapers Corp. is affiliated with Morris Communications.

The suit alleges the plaintiffs, all beneficiaries of the Fagg Trusts, a trust established in 1950 by the will of Edward F. Fagg, were damaged in the amount of about $10 million in the sale of the newspaper to Morris Communications.

The suit says Roy Whittenburg is a director of Spool Cattle Co., Plains Radio Broadcasting Co., and until Sept. 1, 1972 was an officer and director of the Globe-News Publishing Co.

The Fagg Trusts, according to the suit, were established in 1950 with beneficiaries 41 children of the late Fagg's friends, including 12 of the 13 children of George and Lilly Whittenburg.

The suit alleges the sale of the Globe-News to Morris was a violation of the federal Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and the Securities Exchange Commission rule 10b-5.

The Spool Trusts, the suit says, were created in 1966 by Eva Metcalf with the beneficiaries the children of the 41 beneficiaries of the Fagg Trusts and the grandchildren of Fagg's friends.

"Since their establishment, the Fagg and Spool Trusts have been used as vehicles for various business investments by the Whittenburg family," the suit alleges. "The trusts have been viewed by certain Whittenburg family members and by the trustees as a means of perpetuating centralized control and preservation of family wealth, not for the benefit of the beneficiaries, who are never informed of dealings with and the status of the trust estates and have never received any distribution of income therefrom, but rather as personal banks and holding companies by those members of the family who have persisted in a course of self-dealing between themselves and the trustees over the years."

The suit states that as of Sept. 1, 1972, the main asset of the Fagg Trusts was its controlling interest in the Globe-News Publishing Co.

"Shortly prior thereto, the Fagg trustees and defendant Roy R. Whittenburg had determined to get the Whittenburg family out of the newspaper business by selling the Globe stock owned by the Fagg trusts and by some of the friends and other trusts for the benefit of their children to some third party," the suit alleges. "Defendant Morris expressed an interest in acquiring the same and indicated a willingness to pay the sum of approximately $425 per share for the Globe stock controlled by the Whittenburg family."

"Seeing an opportunity to pass family wealth from one generation to the next without paying estate or gift taxes and also an opportunity to prevent any distribution of the Fagg Trusts (which unlike the Spool Trusts, could be terminated at any time upon a vote of the electors), the Fagg trustees, in conspiracy with defendant Roy R. Whittenburg, the Spool trustees, the affiliated companies and certain of the friends, beneficiaries and electors of the Fagg trusts . . . and with the knowledge of Southwestern and Morris, devised and effected . . . transactions to defraud the Fagg beneficiaries. . ."

The suit alleges that on or about Sept. 1, 1972, the Globe-News Publishing Co. purchased from the Fagg and Spool trusts 4,573 shares of its own stock in exchange for certain non-newspaper assets owned by the company, including 405 shares of Plains Radio, real property in several Panhandle counties and certain mineral, oil and gas leases and rights.

"Plaintiffs . . . allege, upon information and belief, that the Citizens rally to aid Quintana family

"We are very happy people today," said Paul Quintana in a solemn, fatigue-worn voice. "We all have our lives."

The eight-member Quintana family had little else after their 60-year-old six-room frame house at 112 N. 8th St. was devastated in a fire that broke out at about 1 a.m. Friday.

According to Quintana, the entire family was asleep when son Larry, 18, awoke upon hearing the crackling of flames which were licking up a wall in his bedroom.

The youth alerted Mrs. Quintana and mother and son battled futilely for several minutes in an attempt to extinguish the blaze themselves. Unable to control the flames, young Quintana alerted the fire department and Mrs. Quintana aroused her husband and other five children, who all escaped with no injury.

Firemen arrived on the scene at 1:25 a.m. and worked for 40 minutes before bringing the blaze under control. Fire Chief Jack Jennings said the cause of the fire is yet undetermined. Mr. and Mrs. Quintana linked the blaze to possible faulty electrical wiring.

The total destruction of their home was the second tragedy the Quintanas have faced in the past two years. In 1971, the father was seized by crippling arthritis and forced to quit his job as head custodian at Gene Howe Elementary School.

Mrs. Quintana is employed as a cafeteria worker at Rex Reeves Elementary School and the family's only other source of income is a social security check which Quintana receives each month.

Hardly had the sun dawned Friday to reveal the charred rubble that was the Quintana home when churches, businesses and individuals mobilized in a city-wide effort to aid the family who lost "virtually everything" in the early morning conflagration.

The family spent Friday night at the nearby home of Mrs. Quintana's brother, Conrad Martinez of 101 N. 10th Ave.

Friday morning found the family facing the immediate problem of finding clothing for the pajama-clad children, including Mary Ann, 15, Veronica, 14, Mary Louise, 12, Jessie, 11, and Roberta, 7.

Through the efforts of Carmen Hernandez, representative of St. Ann's Women's Council, a hastily-gathered wardrobe was collected early Friday.

By noon, a temporary residence was found for the family at the Newman Center at Fourth Avenue and 27th Street; a donation fund had been established at the First National Bank and at Rex Reeves School, and churches and private in-

Local businessman threatens suit over WTSU competition

A Canyon businessman said last week he may go to court to seek equal footing with his primary competitor, the West Texas State University bookstore.

E. T. Cummings, who owns and operates Buffalo Bookstore on 4th Avenue, said he doesn't "want to have to file a lawsuit, but if I have to I guess I will."

Cummings charges that the university-owned bookstore has reaped an unfair competitive advantage over his business due to certain procedures instituted last summer by the university to make registration easier for new students.

The crux of the problem, as Cummings explains it, is the fact that during orientation sessions held last summer on three separate days, incoming freshmen students who had gained admission to the university were told by WTSU officials they could pay a $10 deposit on their books at the university bookstore and pick up their books in the fall without having to wait in long lines.

Cummings says he went to the university and asked for a computer-printout list of incoming freshmen so he could mail them letters asking them to visit Buffalo Bookstore when they arrived in Canyon.

The university declined to provide such a list, as it has declined similar requests almost every year Cummings has operated the bookstore.

"The college bookstore gets the list," Cummings said. "That's what bothers us."

Cummings said the university at one time provided such a list, which would include the students' names and addresses, to the various church centers associated with the campus, but at the same time would not give the list to the Buffalo bookstore.

"I just want to be given the same break as my competition on campus," Cummings said.

Cummings said he talked with WTSU Registrar Don Cates, who declined to make a list available and he said he talked with WTSU President Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, who "was very nice and said at least he'd look into it."

Watkins, when contacted late last week, declined to be quoted on the problem.

Cates said the university has a long-standing rule against making such a list available. He said he feels issuance of such a list to off-campus organizations would be "exceeding our authority."

Cates said Phil Langen, operator of the university-owned bookstore, is allowed to "copy the stuff I have," indicating a list is available to the university store.

The WTSU registrar said that during the summer orientation sessions — the first of which were held this past summer — students were told they would find books available in the Buf-

Merchants, News join in promotion

Canyon merchants, The Canyon News and Radio Station KCAN have teamed up to make early Christmas shopping fun in Canyon.

Some 21 merchants are participating in a Treasure Hunt which is being advertised in The News and publicized extensively on KCAN.

In addition merchants are promoting a unique lighting display which is designed to intensify the Christmas atmosphere and still save on energy.

Numbered Treasure Hunt shopper cards are being distributed by individual merchants.

Winning number cards will be displayed by participating merchants Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Treasure hunters must match their numbers with the winning numbers on display in order to claim free gifts being given by the merchants.

Participating merchants will hold open house during the treasure hunt until 9 p.m. Friday serving refreshments in their stores.

Canyon High School Band will make two appearances Friday evening playing Christmas carols on the courthouse square and again on the parking lot at Palo Duro Shopping Center.

Presidency not hurt by scandal

While President Nixon has been hurt on the domestic scene as a result of the Watergate scandals, the institution of the Presidency remains intact, a West Texas State University government professor told members of the Canyon Political Action Group Thursday night.

But, in foreign affairs both Nixon and the institution of the Presidency have been significantly affected by an early November Congressional resolution limiting the Six Eagles are named to all-district squad

Six Canyon High School football Eagles were named last week to the 1973 All-District team. They are Steve McCormick, Tom Grimes, Terry Slagle, Brad Martin, Ed Lair and Jim Ward.

Four Eagles were named to the honorable mention team, including Kelly Forehand on defense, Bob Counsellor on offense and defense, Slagle on defense and Doug Day on offense.

Perryton, district champion, placed the most players on the all-district squads with eight. Dumas placed six on the squad, Muleshoe placed three and Leveland placed two.

Canyon Coach Ron Mills said he was pleased with the selections made by all coaches of the district and was disappointed that some Canyon players did not make the teams.

He cited Scott Wilson and Garre LaGrone, next year's probable quarterback, as two good players not named to the team.

Placement of Counsellor, who placed on the first team all-district and all-state teams last year, on the honorable mention squad evoked some surprise, also. Counsellor played at his usual tackle position on offense for the Eagles, but due to injuries was shifted to a linebacker slot on defense.

McCormick, a 6-1, 180-pound junior, played at the noseguard position for the Eagles. He was injured on the first play of the Eagles' outing against Caprock early in the season and resumed action at the start of district play.

Grimes, a 5-10, 210-pound senior, played linebacker for the Eagles and was termed by Mills as "one of the best." Grimes was also picked earlier by an Amarillo television station as defensive player of the year for the Panhandle.

Slagle started for the Eagles at defensive back and also played guard on offense. He received honorable mention for his offensive effort and was named to the first team on defense.

Split-end Brad Martin, a 5-10, 150-pounder, transferred into the Canyon system this year and started at split-end. He was a primary target for the aerials of Quarterback Ed Lair. Martin is a senior who was named to the first team on offense.

Lair, who threw and ran the Eagles as quarterback this fall, is a 6-2, 170-pound senior. He was named to the first team quarterback slot on the all-district team.

Ward, a 5-10, 170-pound running back, played only little early in the season but emerged during district action as a power-

Prof sees good side of U.S. fuel shortage

A West Texas State University geologist sees a silver lining for Americans in the unavailability of Middle East and other foreign oil for domestic uses.

Dr. Frank Daugherty, professor of geology and coordinator of earth science research, said last week a lack of oil for importation from the Middle East, which the U.S. has long been dependent on for a good portion of its fuel supply, will mean a breath of new life for the balance of payments deficit for this country.

"One reason for the severe inflation we have has been the balance of payments situation and that situation in previous years has been to a large extent the result of importing of foreign oil," he said. "It was bad enough when foreign oil was $1.50 to $3 per barrel, but now it's approaching $10 a barrel."

With the skyrocketing cost of foreign oil, the U.S. if it continued to import the oil would face a severe balance of payments problem, a problem which would further degrade the American dollar.

Daugherty said the U.S. was importing about one-third of the oil used in domestic consumption from foreign countries.

Foreign oil, available for many years at a low, low price, has been the real culprit in the pending fuel crisis in this country, Daugherty said, because the pressure from foreign markets has kept domestic oil prices at artificially low levels, thereby stifling the incentive for oil companies to increase exploration activities.

Daugherty believes the fuel crisis is real and that the oil companies, now faced with a more profitable situation, are increasing exploration at a quick pace.

He's quick to point out, too, that concerns for the environment and ensuing government controls on auto manufacturers and various industries has caused a rapid upsurge in the demand for petroleum products for fuel.

Domestic oil companies were hard-pressed to meet the demand and importation has increased to take up slack.

Oil company exploration has been stymied, Daugherty said, "because the oil companies didn't feel they were getting an adequate return on their investments."

The price of oil, he said, has been too low — around $3 per barrel for nearly 15 years.

"Meanwhile prices of everything they need has increased dramatically," Daugherty said.

At the same time, a large pool of foreign oil became available and an excess of oil on the international market kept the price down and stifled domestic production.

Our World

Freedom vs. Coercion

By ANN BROWN

Basic in the battle between the forces of good and evil is the struggle of the champions of individual freedom against the cohorts of collective coercion.

Man was created an individual right down to his fingertips. Anyone who attempts to force two or more people into the same mold is certain to encounter opposition.

How ironic that all the powerful leaders in the coercive movements have been rugged individualists themselves. Marx, Lenin, Stalin, Hitler, Castro, Mao, or Allende could hardly be called "Mr. Milquetoast."

Allende made a fatal mistake, however, that his fellow Marxists avoided: He did not kill all who opposed him. No coercive movement has ever succeeded until the finest minds of the opposition have been eliminated.

According to Robert S. Allen, Washington columnist, a movement is underway in Congress to admit more than 50,000 "political refugees" from the military junta in Chile to the U.S.

Leading the movement are Sen. Edward Kennedy (D. Mass.), Chairman of the Senate Sub-Committee on Refugees, and Rep. Robert F. Drinan (D. Mass.), the leftist Catholic priest.

Both lawmakers have introduced and are vigorously pushing legislation to turn the U.S. into a haven for the supporters of the fallen President, Allende, Allen says.

During Allende's reign, Chile became a Mecca for thousands of revolutionaries who were forced to flee their own countries.

Some 500 of the leaders are reportedly hiding in the foreign embassies in the Chilean capital. They are asking political asylum and free passage to leave the country.

Because these revolutionaries tried to turn Chile into a communist dictatorship, Chilean troops are guarding the embassies to prevent their escape. Many are reportedly imprisoned by the military government.

According to Allen, the Kennedy-Drinan legislation would permit all Chilean "political refugees," regardless of their communist, socialist, or Marxist backgrounds to enter the U.S.

He says the FBI, CIA and Immigration Service have notified the White House that they are alarmed at the prospect of our country being flooded with Latin American revolutionaries and militant refugees from all over the world.

These officials also warn the Kennedy-Drinan measure would welcome to the U.S. the arch revolutionaries, terrorists, and bomb throwers who sought asylum in Chile when Allende rose to power.

"Security officials," Allen says, insist that if those 50,000 militants are allowed to join the revolutionaries we already have in America, they will "create a major internal security problem for the nation. . . They could turn the country into another Northern Ireland in a matter of months."

The Daily World, the official communist newspaper, hailed the Kennedy-Drinan movement with bold black headlines. The lead article stated that "Senator Edward Kennedy today demanded that the U.S. government provide 'asylum and resettlement opportunities' to tens of thousands of Chilean patriots" (revolutionaries).

The Daily World commended Kennedy for indicting "the Nixon administration for its silence in the face of bloodshed and violation of human rights by the junta."

Did Kennedy ever indict Allende for violating the human rights of the American investors whose property he stole, or the Chilean landowners whose land he "nationalized"?

The Latin American Anti-Communist Confederation, with headquarters in Mexico, is urging all governments to support the military government in Chile. They probably know more about the situation than Kennedy does.

In three short years, communist Allende and his "comrades" brought the relatively prosperous, happy, united, free Chile to the brink of economic chaos and civil war.

Freedom is man's birthright; take it away, and he is prone to descend to the animal level.

Does America need to import 50,000 more revolutionaries to further demoralize our Country, and take away the freedoms we have left?

WT Roundballers Face Face Quincy Hawks In Game Wednesday

West Texas State's Buffaloes face the Quincy College Hawks at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Amarillo Civic Center coliseum in their second home basketball game of the season.

The Hawks, perennial small college power in Illinois, will be concluding a four-game road trip with the game against the Buffs. Quincy played at Texas-El Paso Saturday night, and will play against Lubbock Christian College Monday night and at Portales, N.M., Tuesday night.

The Hawks under Coach John Ortwerth returned two starters from last year's team which won 17 and lost 13. They are 6-7 Paul Krecke, the team's leading rebounder and guard Casey Dencheon, who was the leading scorer. He set a single game season high with 49 points in one game.

The Buffaloes opened their season Saturday night in Amarillo by hosting Central State University at Edmond, Okla.

City Desk

Stick Em Up !

By CARROLL WILSON

The Wednesday night armed robbery of the publisher of this paper has brought out from under the wraps all sorts of now humorous stories from townspeople who were robbed or nearly robbed once.

Probably the funniest of these stories I heard this week was told by City Manager George Louder.

It was only an hour from midnight, Louder now relates, when he emerged from a subway station in Boston. The streets were deserted and he turned from the stairs to the street.

"Put your hands up," a voice said from behind and Louder found his stomach in his throat. "Gimme all your money."

Up went his hands and Louder turned slightly to see his assailant.

"I turned around and there was this wino leaning against the side of a building holding a banana in his hand," Louder said.

"Watch out — this banana's loaded," the wino told Louder and broke into abrupt laughter. Still shaken Louder walked on.

He turned around again at the sound of a woman's scream — in time to see a well-dressed man and woman, their hands in the air and the banana-wielding wino laughing hysterically.

Louder says the wino was still laughing when he got out of ear-shot.

There is a much more serious side to the armed robbery business though.

Troy Martin, News publisher, said that while he was being robbed of his wallet and about $70 in the parking lot of an Amarillo restaurant, a waitress at the restaurant noticed the scene and called police. During the progress of the robbery, she had the police on the telephone and described the sequence of events as they happened.

Yet, it took 20 minutes for a policeman to arrive at the scene.

The Randall County Grand Jury, in a special investigative report last month, told Amarillo city commissioners of the dangers involved in an undermanned police department.

The report said that at times during the night hours in Amarillo fewer than nine patrol cars are on duty. Nine patrol cars for a city with 130,000 people.

Frankly, I'm glad I don't live in Amarillo anymore.

The incredible thing is this: While city commissioners spend a substantial amount of their time during November bickering with the city manager, they have not said even one word about the grand jury report.

Apparently, they plan to ignore the subject. Crime will not go away.

Dist. Atty. George Dowlen has also noted that the Amarillo commissioners are not giving enough manpower to the fighting of drug abuse and narcotic-related crimes.

What motivates a city commission to ignore a grand jury report, made in good faith and with admirable civic concern?

What motivates a city commission to ignore the warnings of men who are in the business to fight crime?

Amarillo citizens should ask themselves these questions and, if they do not do something about it, they have no room to moan when they are robbed or their sons and daughters are lured into the growing drug scene.

The police situation in Amarillo should be of great concern to Canyon residents as well. If not for the reason that many Canyon residents go to Amarillo occasionally, the real reason should be that if crime rises in Amarillo, if Amarillo gets a name for an easy city on crime, the entire region suffers. Crime tends to spread out. Criminals will not limit their activities to Amarillo. They will come to Canyon, to Borger and to Pampa to carry out illicit schemes.

Amarillo must get tough for the good not only of its own citizens (and for whose safety city commissioners' concern should be tantamount) but for the citizens of the towns which are near Amarillo.

Citizens Hope To Meet With Lake Officials

Members of a citizens committee will meet with officials from Buffalo Lake and the Department of Interior before Jan. 1 to discuss the committee's study on obtaining water for the lake.

No exact meeting date has been set for the meeting.

The committee, formed after a meeting in Canyon of several hundred persons interested in the future of the lake, has met twice-monthly for several months eyeing possible water sources to replenish the lake and examining possibilities for keeping the lake open for public recreational use.

Ferguson announced last week that the lake is being allowed to drain and that a news conference will be held after Jan. 1 by Department of Interior officials to announce future plans for the lake.

Commission Faces Light Agenda Mon.

Canyon city commissioners face a light agenda when they meet at 7 p.m. Monday at the community center.

Main item of consideration will be opening of bids for water and sewer extensions in the Hidden Valley Addition in south Canyon.

Commissioners will also discuss closing the city hall on Christmas eve.

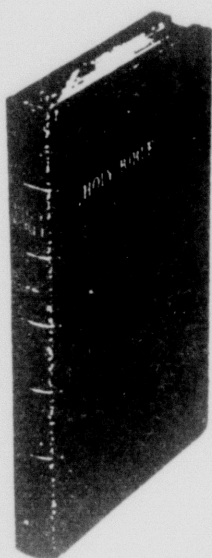

An executive session is scheduled to discuss acquisition of land.

Hightower Not Optimistic Over New Constitution

Even though the state legislature hasn't begun its spring session to build a new state constitution, Sen. Jack Hightower told Canyon Lions Club members last week he is pessimistic about the ultimate fate of a new document.

Hightower, in Canyon to speak to several classes at West Texas State University, told the Lions he feels it is doubtful the constitutional convention will be accepted by the voters of the state.

The senator from the district around Vernon, Hightower has yet to make an expected declaration of his intention to run for a seat in the U.S. Congress. His opponent would be Rep. Bob Price of Pampa.

Saying that the proposed document prepared by the Constitutional Revision Commission is an excellent point of departure, Hightower pointed out a number of areas where controversy is already in the mill.

"Many people will say it's an excellent document but for one section," Hightower said. "Because it covers so many subjects there will be many voters who will be uncompromising and take a negative position."

Hightower prefaced his prediction with the background of the constitutional revision effort this year and the procedures which are to be followed in January when the legislature meets as a constitutional convention.

He said the CRC proposal will be used as the basic document at the convention and eight committees are to be appointed to study the basic eight facets of the proposal. Public hearings will be held and the committees are to prepare their section for inclusion in the whole.

Hightower said with the current Texas Constitution, the ability of government to change is severely hampered. Many changes in state law require constitutional amendments which must be submitted to the voters and are therefore postponed.

He said, too, that there are many restrictions in the current constitution which serve as roadblocks to change for the better.

"Whether what we'll have will be any better will also be a valid question," Hightower said.

He said the CRC proposal "is fairly good" in several areas, including its inclusion of a pay-as-you-go provision.

But, there are several controversial areas, he said, not the least of which is a section providing for retention of the permanent university fund for University of Texas and Texas A&M.

Another controversial item in the CRC proposal is the combination of two state employees' retirement systems.

During a question-and-answer session following his talk, Hightower said he feels the voters were uninformed on the constitutional amendment which failed to pass last Nov. 6, an amendment which would have given legislators a raise in pay to $15,000 per year.

"I don't think the people have actually turned it down, so much as they have not been informed about what the real problem is," Hightower said. "It's tragic to me it was turned down."

Hightower said the legislative position is a full-time job, and that $400 per month is inadequate salary.

Applications for bus driver being taken.
Competent drivers are now needed to help fill some of the vacancies among the bus driver ranks of Canyon Ind. School District according to Administrative Assistant Bobby J. Byrd.

How does one qualify to be a bus driver in Canyon? You must have a chauffeur's license, pass a medical examination, have a good driving record and meet the hair and dress code of the Canyon schools. Dependability and concern for children are other qualities which the transportation department looks for in hiring drivers.

Boston-Wade United In Happy Ceremony

Mrs. Samuel Monroe Wade
nee Carolyn Sue Boston

Jahara Carter, Plainview, and Sabre Boston, daughter of the bride, were ring bearers. Miss Boston was attired identically to the bridesmaids wearing a headpiece of blue flowers and carrying a bouquet of blue pom-poms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk faced peau enhanced by appliques of alencon lace, trimmed with crystal beads and seed pearls, styled with princess lines and a square neckline. A chapel train extending from a dropped waistline defined by a bustle effect and long pointed sleeves accented by tiny pearl buttons, lace and pearls, complimented the gown. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion fell from a sequined headpiece and she carried a bouquet fashioned of blue and white ribbons. In keeping with the tradition of "something old, something new," the bride wore a new penny in her shoe, her grandmother's wedding ring and a blue garter.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Windy Acres Farm. A table covered in white with a centerpiece of blue and white flowers featured a three tiered cake. Miss Charlotte Ritchie, Plainview, and Mrs. Janie Pruitt, Amarillo, served cake and punch and Miss Rita Worst, Amarillo, registered guests.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in New Mexico, the bride chose a light blue pantsuit with matching shoes and wore a corsage that lifted from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Happy High School, attended Dallas Fashion Merchandising College, West Texas State University and is a graduate of Amarillo College. She is presently employed by Dr. G. R. Chase, Amarillo.

The groom is a graduate of Amarillo High School, served two years in the United States Army stationed in Germany, and is presently a student at WTSU majoring in speech.

The couple plans to make their home in Amarillo.

The bride's mother wore a street length A-line dress of royal blue crepe with matching scarf and the groom's mother wore a floor length A-line gown of mint green crepe. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages. Helene McFarland was an honorary mother and she received a single red rose along with the mothers of the bride and groom.

A rehearsal dinner was held Nov. 20 at the El Camino restaurant, Tulsa, hosted by the groom's parents.

Local Women's Clubs Plan Xmas Projects

Along with Christmas comes the spirit of giving and Canyon Women's clubs already have the spirit. Most of them have made plans for Christmas projects and have set them in action.

The Alpha Theta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi has planned to give a needy Canyon family a Christmas food basket in addition to a gift certificate. Chapter Publicity Chairman, Virginia Grimes said, "The family we gave to last year wouldn't have had a Christmas. Food on the table is fine, but the gift certificate allows the person to give their family Christmas too, or to buy things that they really need."

A Browse and Bite party for members of the Xi Kappa Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi allows the chapter to give gifts to High Plains Children's Home and LaCasa Canyon Convalescent Home. Each member makes or brings a gift for an adult or a child to the party. Then the members browse over the various gift items and enjoy refreshments. After the party, the gifts are taken to the children's home or the convalescent home for Christmas.

The Woman's Book Club, a federated club, has two Christmas projects. A local project is a donation or gift to the Canyon Library, in addition to gift items and a monetary donation the club sends to the state hospital in Wichita Falls.

Another federated club, The University Study Club, has several Christmas projects. Each member donates what they wish to a fund that goes to the Vernon Mental Health and Retardation Center in Vernon, as one project. Gifts of money and items for personal use are given to the state hospital in Wichita Falls and to Girls Town USA.

The Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi has planned to give a needy family in Canyon a food basket as their Christmas project.

In charge of the food basket being prepared by the Canyon Study Club, a federated club, are Shirley Slack, Nelda Newman, and Sharon Brown.

Members of the Heritage Woman's Club, a federated club, got together last August for a workshop and one item on the list was Christmas stockings. The stockings will be taken to the Amarillo State Center for Human Development and the National Association for Retarded Children.

The Rex Reeves PTA plans to get into the spirit of Christmas by giving a Christmas corsage to the teachers at Rex Reeves Elementary School.

Cookies will be taken to the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center as the Friendship Sewing Club's Christmas project.

A gift of money to help a man in Mexico complete his education at a seminary was chosen as the Christmas Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church of Canyon.

St. Mary's Altar Society and the Christian Mothers of Umbarger are gathering baby layette items for the Catholic Charities in Amarillo. A person to person Christmas project of

Volunteers Awarded For Hospital Work

Ten hospital auxiliary workers were acknowledged for their outstanding service at Neblett Memorial Hospital at a banquet held Thursday at the Canyon Community Center.

Presenting the awards at the annual banquet of the Neblett Memorial Hospital Volunteers was Helen Hayes, director of nursing.

Receiving awards for hours of service ranging from 100 to 300 hours were Judy Pruett, Janelle Dillehay, Bryanetta Collins, Rosanna Olson, Eileen Kent, Sally Nester, Ada Busteded, Helen Freidell, Judy Castleberry and Linda Elliott.

A buffet dinner was served to hospital volunteers and their husbands, the Neblett medical staff, the South Randall County Hospital Board, and the Neblett Memorial Hospital Board.

Entertainment was provided by a musical ensemble consisting of Andy and Phil Dietz and Ray Grimes.

Also recognized at the banquet were new volunteers Louise O'Brien, Beth Nelson and Jane Bailey.

the groups in conjunction with the Catholic Charities, is the giving of Christmas food baskets. "What makes our way of doing this so special is that the baskets are a gift from each individual family. The people receiving them know who gave them the gift," explained Reba Raef, News columnist.

Even though many of the members of Canyon women's clubs have not begun their own Christmas preparations, they have made sure that Christmas will be nicer for others.

Mrs. George Cox, left and Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, Chi Omega Alumnae, breathe a sigh of relief because the pecans the alumnae group sells each year finally came in. All members of the Chi Omega Alumnae have the one pound packages of fresh, shelled pecan halves for sale for $2.35 a package. Funds from the sales will be applied to one of the group's local projects. For those who don't know a Chi Omega Alumnae, a call to Mrs. Cox, who is acting as distribution chairman, or to Mrs. Jacobs, will do the trick and obtain a supply of pecans for holiday cooking for the caller.

Sue Hite Club Had Cultural Program Mon.

American culture through religion, music and art was the program chairmanned by Mrs. Mary Townsend for the Monday meeting of the Sue Hite Study Club.

Mrs. Townsend discussed the characteristically American culture of separation of church and state. She presented facts throughout American religious development to show: how the seeds for separation were planted by the early colonists; how they were nourished during the development of our country; and how as 20th century Americans people are reaping this religious liberty. The first amendment to the U.S. Constitution was pointed out as the people's guarantee of religious liberty, and the instrument that has helped America stay clear of religious wars.

The musical culture portion of the program was given by Mrs. Moira Myrtle Wheelock. Through oral and musical demonstration she presented the development of religious, patriotic, jazz, blues, folk, and comedy music in America, and gave a piano rendition of each type of music.

Sharing the growth of painting as one type of American art was Mrs. Janelle Hicks. She traced painting from the colonists' time through the development of three dimensional roundness in the 17th century to the 18th century when some few artists were able to make a living by the brush. Western art of the 19th and 20th century was stressed and related to Texas.

Mrs. Townsend summed up the area culture ideas by encouraging the members to be proud of the Texas Panhandle where they live and things representative of this area, such as "TEXAS" presented each summer in the Palo Duro Canyon.

George Washington's prayer for the nation to survive was read by Mrs. Lee Reeves.

New fall members, Mrs. Donna Wilson and Mrs. Jane Hensley, were introduced.

The club president, Mrs. Virginia Allen, hosted the meeting in her home, 301 26th Street. Assisting as co-hostesses were Mrs. Addeline Barker, Mrs. Margaret Moore, Mrs. Alma Perkins, and Mrs. Betty Stoker.

During the business meeting conducted by the president Virginia Allen, the Federated Club game night was discussed, with emphasis that the proceeds go to the Canyon Opportunity Plan for WTSU. Pies, cakes and card-tables were volunteered to help the club chairman, Mrs. Lenna Parker.

Mrs. Eloese Burgess will be hostess for the December 10 meeting. A drama, "A Christmas Celebration" will be the program.

Yvonne Friemel and Patrick M. Whalen exchanged nuptial vows in a single ring ceremony held Nov. 24 in St. Mark's Episcopal Church chapel, Denver, Colo.

The church was decorated with yellow spider mums.

Best man was Robert Jacobs, Denver.

The bride wore a formal gown of dark blue with ruffle trim enhancing the V-neckline, and long tapered sleeves ending in a ruffle flounce. A flowing skirt completed the bride's attire.

Following the ceremony, a buffet reception was held in the Hellenic Orthodox Center in Denver.

The couple will make their home in Denver.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Canyon High School.

Alpha Theta Delta BSP Chapter Makes Plans

Plans for the Alpha Theta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi's Christmas project were discussed at a meeting held Monday night. As part of the Christmas project, a needy family will be presented with a gift certificate on behalf of the chapter.

It was announced that those members who had sewing scraps would bring them to the next regular meeting for a special chapter project. Mrs. Dick Maxwell, service chairman, gave a report concerning the chapter's Thanksgiving basket that was given to a local family.

Mrs. Naja Maxwell presented a program titled "Verse Making" and demonstrated the natural poetic sense of people in a short exercise in which each member present wrote a short verse. Verses were read and discussed as the hostess for the evening. Mrs. Henry Lewis, served her guests cherry cheese cake and hot spiced tea.

Special guests present were the chapter's advisors, Mrs. Lucille Robinson and Mrs. Jeanne Kuhlman.

Members present were Mesdames Vicky Stone, Cindy Stevenson, Naja Maxwell, Theresa Lewis, Sue Lewis, Mary Alice Hines, Judy Hill, Virginia Grimes, and Linda Conway.

The chapter Christmas party will be held Saturday evening at the Hilton Inn, Amarillo, and the next regular meeting will be Dec. 10 in the home of Mrs. Mike Lewis at 8 p.m.

Those attending from the Canyon area were Mr. and Mrs. Siegfried Bolte, Umbarger, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Artho, Wildorado, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartman, Jr., Umbarger, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reinart, Hereford, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Urnoste and Nicole, Amarillo.

On Thursday, members of the group will be available all day, in Rooms 212 and 214 of the West Texas State University Activities Center to talk to those interested in missions. That evening, they will present a Vespers program in the AC Ballroom free of charge.

Mrs. Helen Hayes, standing, Director of Nursing at Neblett Memorial Hospital accepts a number of hand puppets made by the Canyon Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae Association and the Delta Lambda collegiate chapter of Alpha Delta Pi. Mrs. Harriett Brandon, left, alumnae Service Chairman, and Miss Rojanna Harvey, collegiate chapter service chairman, presented the puppets to Mrs. Hayes and the hospital.

Puppets Donated To Neblett Hosp.

Whimsical, fuzzy hand puppets will be waiting to be friends and greet children entering Neblett Memorial Hospital as patients thanks to the Canyon Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae Association and the Delta Lambda collegiate chapter of Alpha Delta Pi at West Texas State University.

The puppets were made to help children during their stay in the hospital and to give them something to play with or to be entertained with.

"We hope that the hospital will give the children the puppets when they first come in. Parents might forget to bring toys or something for the children to play with. Naturally a child might be scared and we thought that having something to play with would help," explained Mrs. Harriett Brandon, Alumnae Service Chairman.

All together, the two groups made 75 puppets, what they thought would be a year's supply, so children receiving the puppets will be able to take them home.

News Brief

A general membership meeting of the Junior Livestock Association is slated at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Vocational Arts Building of Canyon High School.

Plans will also be discussed for the Junior Livestock Show, slated in January, Bourn said.

Men, 18, Must Still Register For The Draft

Canyon veterans officer Roland Black warned young men nearing their 18th birthday that they still must register for the draft.

Black said many young men are failing to register because they are unaware that they must.

He said the President's authority to induct men into the armed forces expired on July 1, 1973, but the selective service law remains in effect to require all young men to register with selective service at the age of 18.

Persons reaching the age of 18 may register for the draft either 30 days before or after their 18th birthday.

In addition, registrants must notify the local selective service board of any change in address and must carry their draft cards with them until their liability expires.

valescent Center in Amarillo. He was born in 1879 in Healdton, Indian Territory and moved to Canyon from Floydada 15 years ago. He was a retired farmer. He was preceded in death by his wife, Dovie Bailey, who died in 1964.

Survivors include a son, Jake B. of Floydada; daughters, Mrs. J. A. Edwards and Mrs. Mitchell Jones both of Canyon; sisters, Mrs. Ima Slocum of Duncan, Okla., and Mrs. Bessie Culberson of Healdton, Okla.; five grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

News Publisher Robbed By Gunman

Amarillo police were still searching at week's end for a bearded man who robbed Canyon News Publisher Troy

Martin at gunpoint about 9 p.m. Wednesday at an Amarillo restaurant.

Martin was relieved of his billfold and about $70 in cash by a man he described as "high on something," who accosted him in the unit parking lot of the Cross Timbers on I-40 in Amarillo.

The publisher was returning to his car after dining at the restaurant when the man approached him with gun in hand, took Martin's wallet and fled in a nearby automobile.

WTSU Seeking Federal Funding For Amarillo-Canyon Mass Transit

West Texas State University officials, eyeing the possible ramifications of a shortage of gasoline on student commuters, have contacted Sen. Lloyd Bentsen to aid in locating federal funding for a mass transit system between Amarillo and Canyon.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, university president, said last week the senator's office is now checking with various federal agencies about the possibility of acquiring funding.

Several meetings have been held on campus last week to eye the crisis and its possible effect on students who must travel to the Canyon campus daily from Amarillo.

In the meantime, other officials are working on a study on car pools for the students. Dr. Jack Muthersbough and Dr. Charles Nelson have just mailed out a survey to determine the feasibility of a bus transit system between the Canyon campus and points in Amarillo, organizing car pools for commuting students, or both.

"We are pitching the survey around the almost certain reduction in gasoline supplies," says Nelson. "The surveys were mailed out Wednesday. We hope to start compiling data by early next week."

The traveling WT students are being asked to supply information on their preference for either bus or auto transport. "We realize that most students prefer their cars now. What we are hoping is they can look ahead to the almost certain shortage of fuel upcoming," observes Jack Muthersbough.

Additional questions on the postpaid query included type of transportation preferred, what alternatives the commuters feel open to them, and their overall view of the transportation situation.

"We know we are operating against a deadline," says Nelson. "We desperately need a good response on this questionnaire, pro or con. It is going to be the only sample we will be able to take before early next year." Both men agree with national economists' estimations that the real fuel trauma will become clear by late January or February.

Earlier this week, groundwork was being laid for determining the feasibility of an Amarillo-Canyon bus service for West Texas students.

Monday, Earl Fair of the Amarillo transit system met with university representatives. He outlined requirements for a bus transit system. He added to the urgency already felt by reminding West Texas representatives of the shortage of fuel.

Fair first recommended that the already established commercial bus services be contacted. University officials agreed common carriers would be consulted during the planning of any busing program.

Fair also suggested the university look into the possibility of using a private contractor to supply the bus service to the students.

The Amarillo bus expert also advised seeking federal help. The bus task force is now looking into federal transportation grants that might apply to WTSU's situation.

Girl Eagles In Tourney

The Canyon girl Eagles remain undefeated this weekend and hoped to gain a berth Saturday night in the finals of the Sunray tournament.

Through five games so far early in the season, the Eagles have downed by large margins each opponent.

The Eagles blasted Stinnett's girl Rattlers by a 77-20 score Thursday night in the first night of the Sunray tournament.

The girls hit 48 per cent from the field and only 33 per cent from the foul line in their win. Robena Johnson was high point girl with 30 points, followed by Alisha Nelson with 20 and Cheryl Adams with 9.

Coach Bob Schneider, while proud of the scoring of his Eagles, is worried over the scoring percentages, percentages he says he hopes to improve on before the girls reach district action against Muleshoe.

On the guard end of the court, Schneider said all his guards turned in outstanding efforts in keeping the Rattler scoring low.

Lynn Davis had a grade of +16 for the night and Kathy Lewis had a +10.

In earlier action this season, the Eagles defeated Valley 51-42 with Cheryl Gunter making the most points with 20. The Eagles downed Sunray 58-27. Miss Gunter was injured during that game and is not expected to see action for three to four weeks.

The girls downed McLean 81-37 over the Thanksgiving holidays and handed Claude a 82-34 drubbing recently.

dividuals throughout the city had begun contributing food and clothing to the stricken family. The Canyon Ministerial Alliance utilized monies available through its benevolence fund to purchase $50 worth of groceries for the family on Friday, according to the Rev. David Baldwin, assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church and secretary-treasurer for the organization. He said the alliance would continue a day-by-day program of assistance to supply the family with food and other necessary items. Several congregations in the city are seeking contributions of furniture for the Quintanas and various church organizations are in the process of collecting more clothing. Dr. Charles Townsend, professor of history at West Texas State University, said he and his wife postponed a planned garage sale after hearing of the family's misfortune and have decided to donate all their intended merchandise to the family. Sitting placid in a rocking chair, Mrs. Quintana said it wasn't the loss of the furniture and utilitarian items that "hurt so much." "It was the baby pictures...the things that my little ones made me in school...my father's big grandfather clock. Things like that." A cat named Bushy was lost in the fire, too, she said. "I've told the children he ran away in the night so they wouldn't think about him," Mrs. Quintana said. Quintana said he expects to receive about $6000 in insurance for the loss of the home, but would not be compensated for anything destroyed within the house since his policy is not comprehensive. Taking a moment's respite before going shopping for shoes for her children, Mrs. Quintana slumped back in her chair and managed a tired smile. "The children are all taking it very well," she said. "All they've been asking me has been 'can we go see what the house looks like?' With all the excitement and moving around, we haven't had the chance to go back and look yet."

Kelly Forehand, a junior tackle named for honorable mention, will return to the Eagle squad next season. Mayfield, a slight but tough defensive back, will graduate this year after proving his worth as an Eagle starter and making the honorable mention squad. Day, a senior center, also made the honorable mention squad. He is 5-9 and weighed 145 for the Eagles. Several of those picked for all-district honors will return to the Eagle squad next season. Ward and LaGrone will return in the backfield and Forehand and McCormick will return to the line.

consideration received by the Fagg Trusts for their portion of the Globe stock so transferred, and worth at least $425 per share, was grossly inadequate," the suit alleges. About the same time, the allegation continues, the Spool Trusts purchased 41,872 shares of the Globe-News from certain of the "friends," including Roy Whittenburg, and certain trusts for their children, and the 61,111 shares of the company owned by the Fagg Trusts after the earlier transaction. "The purchase price of the Globe shares sold by the Fagg Trusts, and, upon information and belief, by the friends to the Spool Trusts was $400 per share," the suit alleges. On the same day that the Fagg Trusts sold their Globe shares to the Spool Trusts for $400 per share, the Spool Trusts sold the same shares, along with the shares acquired from the friends, to Southwestern for $425 per share, the suit says. "Not only did the Spool Trusts realize a price differential or profit of $25 per share, or a total of $2,574,575 (allegedly paid for the Spool Trusts' agreement not to compete with Southwestern in the newspaper business, a business which the Spool Trusts, unlike the Fagg Trusts, had never engaged in), but the terms of the two sales . . . were vastly different," the suit alleges. The suit outlined the terms of the sale from the Fagg Trusts to the Spool Trusts and from the Spool Trusts to Southwestern. The plaintiffs allege that the difference in the two sales amounts to more than $6.750 million and that this difference "represents profit to the Spool beneficiaries at the expense of the Fagg beneficiaries." "By virtue of the transactions described . . . the Fagg Trusts were fraudulently deprived of the sum of at least $9,324,575 . . ." the suit alleges. The suit further alleges the plaintiffs' claims for relief, basing the claims on various state and federal statutes and the nature of the alleged sale. The suit also asks the federal court to remove the Fagg Trusts and to enjoin Whittenburg from exercising any control over the Fagg or Spool Trusts or over the electors of either trust.

"All My Sons" In Production This Week At Canyon High
Arthur Miller's "All My Sons," a taut World War II drama posing ethical questions as significant today as yesterday, is slated for production Thursday and Friday at Canyon High School. Performance times are 8 p.m. each evening in the CHS Auditorium. "All My Sons" was the first dramatic success for playwright Arthur Miller, preceding his other famous domestic tragedy, "Death of a Salesman." Both dramas reveal author Miller's preoccupation with common American working men facing stark domestic crises. "All My Sons" portrays a factory owner torn between devotion to his family and responsibility to society. Joe Keller, a grassroots family man finds himself standing in the shadow of murder after his factory ships out over a hundred defective airplane parts which contribute to a fatal crash killing 21 soldiers. The CHS cast for "All My Sons" includes Steve McDaniel as Joe Keller, and Julie Whittington as his wife, Kate. David Anderson plays the role of the couple's son, Chris, who finds himself living in the shadow of his brother, who was reported missing in action three years before, but whose presence is kept alive by a mother who refuses to reconcile herself to his probable death. Tonya Hunter portrays Ann, the former girlfriend of the dead brother and the daughter of Keller's co-worker, who was sent to prison for the wartime crime he insists he didn't commit. Her brother, George, is played by Lynn Williams. Others cast are Vern DeWees as Dr. Jim Bayless, Nancy Dun-

we've taken the hocus-pocus out of meat labeling

...to make your shopping easier!

Our new meat identification program takes the guesswork out of selecting meat and how to prepare it . . . HELPS YOU BECOME A BETTER SHOPPER AND A BETTER COOK.

It's as easy as 1, 2, 3. Read on, and you'll see what we mean.

CHECK OUR MEAT LABELS

Our new identity labeling program tells you quickly and simply, the kind of meat you're buying, where it comes from, and its most common retail name.

CHECK OUR WALL CHART

2 We have posted beef and pork charts, which graphically show where the retail cut you're buying comes from, and the recommended way to cook it.

PICK UP YOUR OWN GUIDE

3 We have a free, four page meat guide in our stores, which explains our labeling program, and includes a smaller version of our pork and beef chart. Won't you stop by for one?

The diagram shows a cow with callouts to various meat cuts and their preparation methods:
